

Better Call Saul

Junior Brown

INTRO

VERSE 1

^A
You drink one, drink two, drink three Long Island ice teas
^D
But your buddy's worse off, and he throws you his car keys
^{E7}
Blue lights are a blinking four o'clock in the morn
^D
State trooper makes you wish that you'd never been born
^A ^C ^A
Better call Saul, better call Saul

^A
You wanna tell the world you're in love with a girl named Fran
^D
So you find an overpass and say it with a spray paint can
^{E7}
Blue lights start a blinking', those handcuffs click
^D
You know who to call, and you'd better call quick!

CHORUS

A
Saul, Saul, you better call Saul
D
He'll fight for your rights when your back's to the wall
E7 D
Stick it the man, justice for all
A
You better call Saul

SOLO

A A A
E7 D A

A
Shopping at the Wal-Mart, short just a couple of beans
D
There's a George Foreman grill down the back of your blue jeans
E7
They caught you at the checkout and the blue lights blink
D
Only one guy to call, 'cause the others all stink
A C A
Better call Saul, better call Saul

A
Your husband disappeared in a most convenient way
D
Now your troubles are gone, his insurance will surely pay
E7
You get to the bank but the cops say "whoa"
D
Who ya gonna dial when they lock you down cold?

CHORUS

SOLO

A A A
E7 DA

E7 DA

A

Your customers are gone, and your store is on the rocks

D

Spread around the gas coz it's time to torch the stock

E7

But ya gotta move quick before you singe your own hair

D

Who knew there was a homeless guy sleeping in there

C

A

Better call Saul, better call Saul

A

FBI finds some kids trapped in your creepy van

D

You stay real cool and tell 'em you're the ice cream man

E7

But all their crying just gave you away

D

Who you gonna call to skip a prison stay?

CHORUS
